

ASb
approved

A very tall man

Cornelius Wambi
Gulere
Catherine Groenewald

English

His hoe was too short.

THOUGHTS FOR YOUR CHILD

Point out the vivid colors – the yellow sun, the blue sky, the green bushes, and the red shoes.

Count the two bushes and the two red shoes with your child.

His doorway was too low.

The man is taller than the door and much taller than the boy. Look how much the man stoops down to talk to the boy!

Count the four bushes together.

His bed was too short.

Look how far the man's legs stick out of the bed. He is much longer than the bed.

The man has funny red pajamas with round dots.

The bird and the boy look puzzled.

Count the five toes on each of the man's feet.

His bicycle was too short.

The tall man is much too big for his bicycle. Look how far his leg sticks out!

The bird is now orange. What color was the bird before? Where is the boy?

The basket is striped with rainbow colors. Are there stripes in your room?

Point out the shades of green in the hills behind the bicycle.

This man was too tall!

The man is feeling sad and frustrated.

He is so much taller than other people. What should he do? How can he solve his problems?

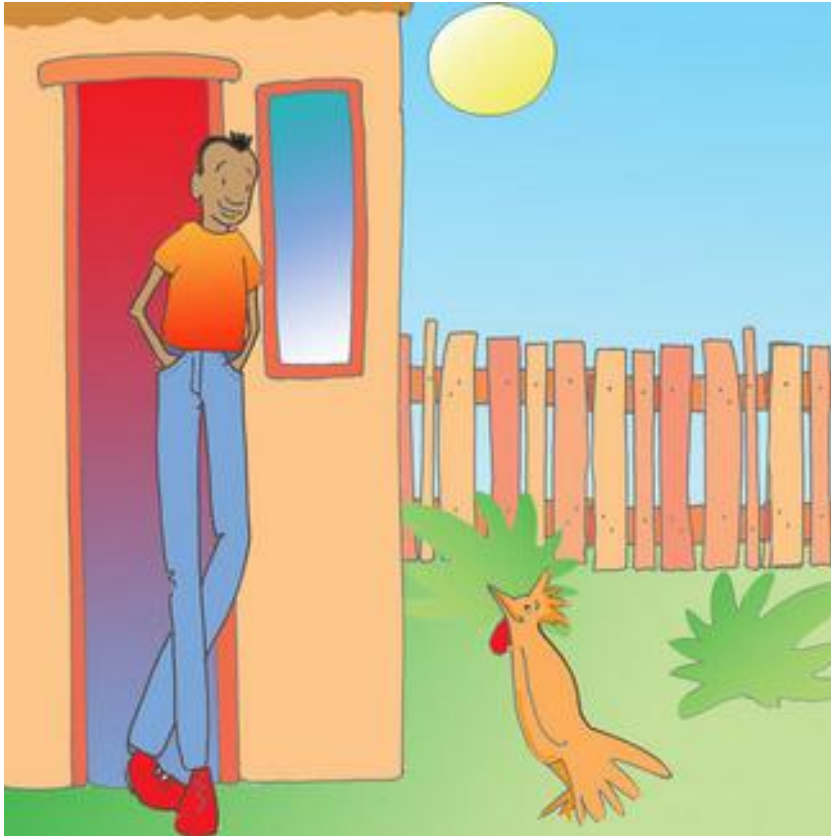

He made a very long hoe handle.

He solved his problems!

He made his hoe longer. Now it is as big as he is.

What happened to his red shoes?

He made very high door frames.

His door is now bigger than he is!

What color is the bird now?
Sometimes the bird is yellow and sometimes it is orange.

The sun is round. Point to round things where you are now.

He made a very long bed.

We can't see his feet now. His bed is longer than he is.

What color are his pajamas?
Where is the bird?

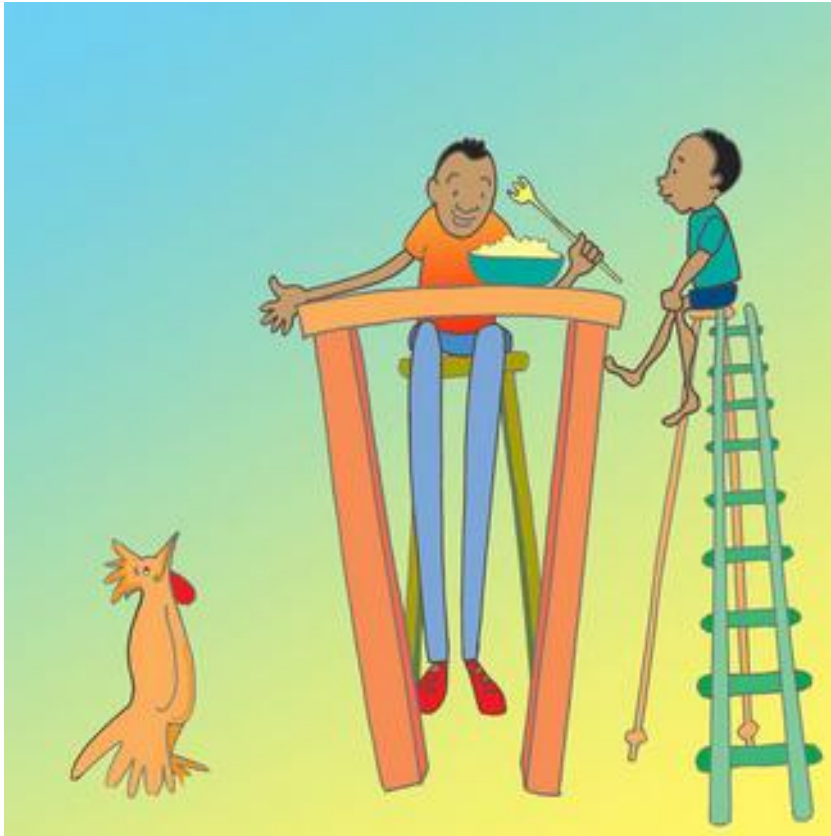

The man looks very comfortable and happy.

He bought a very high bicycle.

The bike is big enough now.

Everyone looks very happy!

He sat on a very high chair. He ate with a very long fork.

Why is there a ladder next to the boy?

Why is the boy on such a big chair?

Count the items in the picture – there are legs and tines.

He left his house
and lived in a big forest. He lived for many years.

Count the pineapples, the bags,
and the trees. You can also count
the rungs on the ladder.

What color is the bird now?

A very tall man

Author -- CorneliusWambi Gulere
Illustration -- CatherineGroenewald
Language -- English
Level -- Firstwords

© Text: Ugandan Community Libraries Association; Illustration: African Storybook Initiative 2014
Creative Commons: Attribution 4.0
Source www.africanstorybook.org
Original source www.ugcla.org